REGULATORY ANALYSIS

1. Describe the classes of persons who will be affected by the proposed rule, including classes that will bear the costs of the proposed rule and classes that will benefit from the proposed rule.

The rule update will benefit enrolled members on the Medicaid Buy-In Program for Working Adults with Disabilities that also are functionally eligible for the HCBS-DD Waiver to be able to access both sets of services. Individuals that meet all other qualifying criteria including disability, employment and income limits will be able to work in more competitive employment at higher wages as well as accumulate more resources than would typically be allowed for a person just enrolled in a waiver. Resources are not considered for eligibility when a person is on the Medicaid Buy-In Program for Work Adults with Disabilities even when they also access waived services. There are no projected negative impacts to any classes of persons with this proposed rule change.

2. To the extent practicable, describe the probable quantitative and qualitative impact of the proposed rule, economic or otherwise, upon affected classes of persons.

The proposed rule to allow enrolled members on the Medicaid Buy-In Program for Working Adults with Disabilities to also access HCBS-DD waiver services will encourage those individuals that would choose to work in more competitive employment to seek out those jobs increasing opportunities for successful and dignified community living. Further this rule allows any adult waiver to be used in conjunction with the Working Adults with Disabilities Buy-In and does not discriminate due to the type or severity of disability.

3. Discuss the probable costs to the Department and to any other agency of the implementation and enforcement of the proposed rule and any anticipated effect on state revenues.

Approximately $140.2M is spent on the Medicaid Buy-In Program for Working Adults with Disabilities annually. From September 2020 - August 2021, the average caseload was 13,390 and the per capita cost was $10,471. This rule change is expected to shift participants from the HCBS-DD waiver program to the buy-in program with HCBS-DD. On net, this shift is expected to decrease costs by $5,751 starting in FY 2022-23 (January 1, 2023 implementation), when it is assumed that HCPF will begin enrolling individuals in the buy-in program. While the developmental disabilities waiver program is financed with the General Fund, the new buy-in program will be funded through the Healthcare Affordability and Sustainability (HAS) Fee Cash Fund. Premiums for the buy-in program are not eligible for the 50 percent federal funds match. As such, the shift to a buy-in program with premiums results in a decrease in use of General Fund and federal funds, and an increase in HAS cash fund beginning in FY 2022-23 (January 1, 2023 implementation).

4. Compare the probable costs and benefits of the proposed rule to the probable costs and benefits of inaction.

A HCBS-DD Waiver amendment is in progress to allow implementation no later than January 1, 2023. The Department was directed through the enactment of SB 21-039 to seek federal authorization to allow the HCBS-DD Waiver to be used in conjunction with the Medicaid Buy-In Program for Working Adults with Disabilities. The Department will be updating the Colorado Benefits Management System (CBMS) and InterChange System (MMIS) to allow this change to occur. This rule is popular with stakeholders in the Intellectual Disabilities and Developmental Disabilities communities because individuals can earn and save higher amounts of income to live more independently with dignity and contribute back to society. It is possible that representatives of those communities may choose to testify in favor of this change. Collaboration has occurred with the Office of Community Living to ensure that Waiver amendments are in sync with the rule change. Staff has been very supportive of this effort. There has not been any negative response from any sector.

The costs of inaction would be non-compliance with State Statute.

5. Determine whether there are less costly methods or less intrusive methods for achieving the purpose of the proposed rule.

There are no less costly methods of implementing SB 21-039

6. Describe any alternative methods for achieving the purpose for the proposed rule that were seriously considered by the Department and the reasons why they were rejected in favor of the proposed rule.
